We are interested in a letter published last week in the People's Column of the Boston Traveller. The letter in part read as follows:

"A great many novels as well as ten concerning the willingness of our western folk to aid their fellow creatures, but little has been written about our own good old New England stock. I had occasion to travel to Presque Isle, Me., from Boston this past week. It was right after a freezing rain and the road for quite a distance was literally a 'glare of ice' and traction extremely slow so that I encountered many difficulties and had it not been for the assistance of a number of residents of that State, I am afraid it might have been a somewhat disagreeable journey. People I had never seen before gave a helping hand to me as if I had known them for years.

"More words cannot express my appreciation of their wonderful assistance, but I trust they may see this and realize it might have been E. Stanford Reynolds, Jamaica Plains, Mass.

In conversation the other day with a Vice President of the Hudson Motor Company here over the recent holidays, he told us of a conversation on the train on his way east. Incidentally this Vice President has a summer home in the town of Palmyra, Maine, and with his family always spends the Christmas-New Year holidays there, as well as does the family for the entire summer. A fellow traveler from Cleveland, Ohio in the smoking compartment made some comment on the weather and then asked my friend if he happened to know whether they had had much snow in Maine. The conversation developed that this man is a leading attorney of Cleveland, Ohio, that his daughter had been a guest at Camp Kineo a few years ago, that on the parents' visits, they became so much interested in Maine that they finally bought a summer home near Damariscotta so to have the combination of salt water as well as fresh water recreations. They have already expended something like $50,000 on the property and as the Cleveland man expressed it, "We have just begun." That bears out the contention so often made by our late beloved President, Hiram W. Ricker, that if you can interest the young people to come to boys' and girls' camps which the parents will follow and as the young people grow up with the families of their own, new friends for Maine are made through each generation. This is a feature of boys' and girls' camps which is at times entirely overlooked by those people who criticize them because they are operated by people who come from outside the State.

The Manager of one of these boys' camps recently told us that he gives one meal free to visiting parents but that parents paid him over $1,000 in other meals last season. Just imagine how much more they spent in hotel board, meals, purchase of clothing, gifts, etc., for the children. This camp manager who is a National Camp Director, stated that he knew of 120 camps in Maine that took in approximately $550,000 in July and August last year and that $36,000 of this money was spent in Maine and that the same percentage of Maine expenditure would prevail in all camps.

Leading advertising experts have said that the time to advertise is when you need business, not when you have it. Roger Babson and other business economists agree that now is the time to place full emphasis on advertising and sales. That has been proven during the past two years of business depression in the industrial world. It can be equally applied to the business of entertaining summer visitors.

WHAT IS TECHNOCRACY?

Technocracy is a word coined some years ago by a California engineer to describe a new system and philosophy of government in which our economic affairs should be managed by technicians, that is, the technically competent persons, in the interest of society as a whole, explains Edmund R. Chaffee in the January 4th issue of "The Christian Century," leading unorthodox religious journal.

"In this original study group were such well known names as Charles P. Stein, the electrical wizard, Bassett Jones, electrical engineer, Richard O. Tolman, of the California Institute of Technology, Frederick Lee Ackerman, architect, Thorstein Veblen, an unorthodox economist, and others rating high in the scientific and technical world. These men have been working at their self-imposed task during the past decade or more and have added to their number until now there are several hundred located in all parts of the world. Finding this esoteric name Technocracy at hand, this research group have applied it to themselves and have also used to designate the body of fact and philosophy which they have built up in their researches," continues Mr. Chaffee in "The Christian Century." "In other words, Technocracy is both the name of a group and the body of fact and conclusions it is building up. There are five points in Technocracy that deserve attention, points out Mr. Chaffee. These are:

- 1.—Men and machines are regarded as "overcoordinated devices" and for that reason the work and accomplishments of men can be measured in simple, common terms.
- 2.—Social changes and accomplishments can be measured in terms of energy.
- 3.—Machines are replacing men so rapidly that a permanent class of unemployed must result. Technocracy asserts that the present system of values and prices is wrong.
- 4.—Technocracy asserts that the present capital structure of the world is growing like a snowball, drawing more and more of the fruits of labor is unworkable. The system has reached the breaking point.
- 5.—Technocracy feels that the industrial system has become so complicated that only highly trained and exceptionally wise men can manage it.

EARLY CHICKS

By Prof. H. D. Munroe

Crowded conditions in brooding chicks is the most common trouble-maker. Crowding of chicks not only causes heavy mortality due to disease but helps to develop bad habits such as pecking. With efficient and more satisfactory results obtained by a few changes in management.

Instead of having one brood of 500 chicks in March, get 250 chicks in January and 250 chicks in April. This arrangement will prevent crowding, will produce more uniform growth and will eliminate a lot of disease and vice.

By having two broods of chicks three months apart, no additional equipment will be necessary. The January hatched pullets will be laying during the early fall when egg prices are high and the hen flock is falling off in production. These early hatched pullets will probably molt in the late fall or early winter. When they are moulting the late hatched pullets will be in production. These early hatched pullets, after moulting, will make good breeders and because of their molting will lay later the following summer. This form of brooder management will not only produce better pullets but will tend to result in more uniform egg production.

The farmers in this neighborhood put in their last week. Ernest Brown and son Don cut their own ice and also cut for Walter Cawwell. Charlie Kimball of North Waterford hauled Walter Cawwell's ice with his truck, doing in one day what it usually takes two or three days to do. The road over the hill is usually impassable for autos at this time of year, but on account of the small amount of snow, is now very good. Mr. Cawwell and son, Harold, hauled sawdust from Fred Littlefield's mill to cover their ice.

Albert Cox went to Norway last Friday with Ernest Grover.

James Kimball is recovering from a severe cold and Mrs. Kimball is now sick.

The snow storm of last Sunday seemed like one of the old fashioned blizzards we used to have. The wind blew a gale all day which carried the snow away as fast as it came. Some say as much as six or seven inches of snow fell which was piled into drifts in some places while others were blown bare. A fine job for the snow plow now, the first this winter so far.

Celebrated Birthday—Date Set for Drama.

The ladies of this vicinity met at the Wilkins House on Tuesday, to do Red Cross sewing. As this was the birthday of Mrs. F. B. Rounds, this gathering was sort of a celebration in her honor.

The committee served a delicious birthday dinner, consisting of mashed potato, cold ham, vegetables, salads, ice cream and cake. Mrs. Rounds had the seat of honor at the head of the table, which was decorated with a beautiful bouquet of snapdragons. Mrs. Rounds was presented with a decorated birthday cake, which she cut and distributed to the people at the table. There was a good attendance and a nice lot of sewing accomplished, and a good time enjoyed.

The children have a slide which is thrilling and calls for careful steering. Coming down the steep hill, past the barn, age, turn is made into E. L. Stone's driveway, then another quick turn takes the sleds down under the bridge, then on the ice in the bed of the brook, past the Collins house.

Ice harvesting is nearly completed. Most of the ice has had to be hauled on trucks, as there has been almost no snow for sledding.

We were treated to a smart storm and wind blow over the week end. People who have wood to haul were glad to see a little snow.

There was an enjoyable supper party at the Rounds home on Tuesday evening, in honor of the birthday of Mrs. F. B. Rounds. The guests were Miss Gage and Miss Plummer.

WOMAN LOST 10 LBS. IN A WEEK
Mrs. Betty Luedke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose, unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at Ashton's Drug Store or any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you, this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

NEW MINISTER AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. E. Kirkpatrick will begin his pastorate at the Baptist Church next Sunday. He comes from East Rochester, N. H., where he has ministered for three years. Mr. Kirkpatrick is a native of Greenwich, Mass., later going to Southampton, where he spent his early life. It was while there that he turned to a Congregational career and he was high tribute to him for his influence in leading him to join the church. On account of his youth, Mr. Kirkpatrick was rejected for service during the World War, but became a mechanic at a wood production plant in Springfield, and also joined the National Guard at the close of the war. He then turned to aviation, finally completing training as an automobile mechanic and accepted employment with a motor car company. That year he married Miss Viola Strong of Springfield, and the business depression of that year, 1920, forced him to return to his work as a chef, becoming head chef in a chain restaurant in Detroit, Michigan.

Through the influence of John W. Green, then general secretary of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., he was led to select the ministry as his life work, but the problem of proper preparation faced him. He entered on a course of study under Mr. Green. Interruptions on account of depleted finances and occasional illnesses followed, but in 1924 he was graduated from the Boston Bible Training Institute, and a year later was graduated from the Bible Institute at New York.

Two years pastorate at Manchester, N. H., and a period at Augusta were followed by a course at the Gordon Bible and Missionary Center in Boston, during which he was graduated. Since coming here he has also served the Baptist Church at West Lebanon, Me. He has been active in the Community Church, and has supervised the first aviation Bible school in that town and has been Scoutmaster of Troop 175, Boy Scouts of East Rochester.

ALDEN B. HAYES

Alden B. Hayes, 42, a former superintendent of the School Union of Paris and Woodstock, died Sunday morning, Jan. 29, at Presque Isle after a few weeks' illness with influenza and pneumonia. Mr. Hayes was born in Sebago, August 19, 1891. He attended the Bangor High School, from which he graduated in 1910. He graduated from the University of Maine in 1914, receiving the degree of B. S. in mechanical engineering after which he took a course under the State Department. From July, 1914, to April, 1916, he was with the Draper Corporation of Hopedale, Mass. From April, 1916, to October, 1918, he was assistant in the manual training department, Bangor. In October, 1918, he was promoted to the mechanic arts department, comprising the woodworking and machine shops and mechanical drawing classes at the high school and the manual training work of the grades.

He came to South Paris from Bangor and remained several years, but resigned in 1929 to open an automobile salesmen in Augusta. Later he was elected superintendent of schools at Presque Isle. Mr. Hayes was a member of St. Andrews Lodge of Masons, St. John's Commandery, Knights Templar, and past patron of Tuscan Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. He was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. The funeral was held at Presque Isle Tuesday afternoon. He is survived by a widow. Two nieces, Genevieve and Marion Hayes, have made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Hayes for a number of years.

JANUARY TEMPERATURE

With the average morning temperature a little over 10 degrees, this season experienced a mild condition similar to January 1932, according to the readings of John Wright's thermometer, on Pine Street, at 6 a. m.

The new year opened with a snappy spell. After this, the mercury danced up and down from near zero to 38 as the maximum. Compared with readings of seven preceding years, the month proved balmy with just the right morning tang.

Harking back to the cold January in 1925, there were eighteen mornings from zero to 34 below. Twelve registered points around 4 to 18 above with one morning at 34. Figuring back for nine years, we find the 6 a. m. average for that period to be 0.3 above zero. According to the returns, the past month has been comfortable and a fair saver.
